Additional Examination Information

Exams for classes that meet off-campus locations are held during regularly scheduled meeting days and times.

Instructors announce schedules for lab courses, block courses, and TV courses by mid-semester. For courses meeting at nonstandard times (those not listed in this exam schedule), instructors are responsible for coordinating an exam time through the Registrar's Office and announcing it to the class by mid semester.

Students who have more than one examination scheduled at the same time or more than two examinations scheduled on the same day should consult their academic dean to request rescheduling.

Makeup Periods for Final Exams

If the university is unexpectedly closed on an exam day, makeup times will be announced as soon as they are determined. As much as possible, makeup exams will be given at the same time and in the same room as the missed exams. Students and faculty should call the university's main telephone number, 703-993-1000, for information and confirmation of the rescheduling of final exams. This information will also be disseminated throughout the university via other voice and electronic means.

Processing of grades may be delayed by use of makeup days late in the exam period.

Instructor/Course Evaluations

Students may access instructor/course evaluations via the web. Evaluations for the past three semesters can be viewed at ratings.gmu.edu.

Course Prerequisites

The student is responsible for meeting the prerequisites before attempting to register for a class. If a student has registered for a class without having met the prerequisites, the department may request, during the first week of class, that he/she drop the course.

Official Communication to Students by E-mail

University officials will use electronic mail as the most expeditious means of communicating with you. Class materials, assignments, questions, and instructor feedback are examples, as are important communications from the Registrar, Student Accounts, Financial Aid, and your dean's office. You will be responsible for the content of university communication sent to you by e-mail, and are required to activate your e-mail account and check it regularly. Please see mail.gmu.edu for further information about your e-mail and other communication services.

English Language Institute

Nonnative speakers of English who want to improve their English language ability can find many classes, programs, and services to meet their needs at the English Language Institute.

For information or an application form, see eli.gmu.edu. You may also contact the English Language Institute at 703-993-3660 or 703-993-3664 (fax), or e-mail us at ELI@gmu.edu. The application deadline for fall 2008 is July 19, 2008.
